

The Incredible Twenty-Six Adjective Seemingly Never-Ending Literacy Challenge

For this challenge, think of a famous person from a book you've read that is either a wonderful role model or a very, very nasty villain. Or you can think of someone you actually know or have learned about over the years. Then describe them using a total of 26 adjectives. The first adjective should start with the letter A, the second adjective should start with the letter B, and the third letter should start with the letter C. Keep going until you've used an adjective that starts with every letter in the alphabet. Good luck!
